

DT2/1.4b Understand and use mechanical systems in their products the build of the solar system won't be made too difficult and ultimately the design of it is up to the individual, however, as they build, they are taught to understand the mechanics of space